KENTON YOUTH FATALLY HURT IN CYCLE CRASH

Paul Harvey Scott, 18, Dies in Accident 15 Miles West of Marion.

Paul Harvey Scott, 18, of near Kenton died in City hospital at 11:30 p. m. Saturday as a result of a skull fracture suffered when he was thrown from the motorcycle he was driving on Harding highway about 15 miles West of Marion.

Highway patrolmen, who investigated the accident, say that he was driving the cycle at a high rate of speed and lost control, the front wheel going into what is described as a speed wobble.

Slid 200 Feet

There were marks on the pavement for 200 feet where the cycle had slid before leaving the road and running into a fence. Scott was thrown on the pavement, where he was found following the accident.

The accident occurred at about 7:30 p. m. and Scott who was taken to the hospital by Ford ambulance of LaRue was unconscious until the time of his death.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs Olive Bowers, his step-father, Jack Bowers, brothers Joseph and Randall Scott and a step-sister, Connie Bowers.

Sermon on 'Your New Freedom' Harding Baccalaureate Theme

"Your New Freedom" was the subjet of the sermon given by Rev. J. B. Holloway, pastor of Trinity Baptist church, when he spoke to the 1947 graduating class of Harding High school in baccalaureate services Sunday afternoon in Epworth Methodist church. The services opened the school's graduation week which will be concluded with commencement exercises Thursday night.

A large audience of relatives and friends of the graduates filled the church and a number had to stand throughout the entire program.

"Freedom is a magic word which fires the imagination and thrills the soul," Rev. Holloway said, adding that "deeply buried in the heart of every human being is a passionate desire to be free. The impulse to throw off all restraints and exercise complete freedom is inbred in human nature and is as old as the race itself. The poor benighted Polynesians in the Japanese mandated islands of the Pacific, though woefully ignorant and steeped in superstition, often chafed and resented the bold and heartless encroachment of their foreign masters upon their personal liberties. Our own country was founded upon the fundamental principle of human freedom, being conceived in liberty and built upon the philosophy that all men are created free and equal before God.

"While true fredom is the inalienable right of all human beings it is not to be gained by wishful thinking, nor is it to be snatched from the ether waves as by a magic wand, nor yet may it be obtained by royal decree or formal declaration. To be genuine and permanent and satisfying it must be tempered with certain regulations and restraints, either self-imposed or incorporated into legal statutes, lest it degenerate into license and turn to bitterness, disillusionment and calamity."

Wrong Idea of Liberty

Rev. Holloway gave an illustration of a false conception of personal liberty by telling of an incident taken from recent Russian aviation history when a stunt flier carelessly collided with a giant airplane on a test flight even though warned not to indulge in any stunt flying. His utter disregard of all restraint and his determination to exercise his own freedom brought destruction to himself, both planes and 50 of Russia's ablest air officials who were passengers on the larger plane.

"The industrial worker," Rev. Holloway said, "is free to organize and use all legitimate means of improving his working conditions so long as he does not infringe upon the rights of others. There freedom ceases."

Rev. Holloway declared that the pupil in school may exercise perfect freedom in the choice and pursuit of his activities so long as it does not interfere with the right, comfort or welfare of other people. He said: "Moral issues are never involved in the exercise of personal liberty until the rights of others are endangered. The drinker, the smoker, the dope fiend or other addist of some bad habit started on the road to slavery by asserting his personal freedom and landed in the clutches of a vicious habit that he cannot quit.

"True freedom is a quality of the soul kindled by the Spirit of God which permits us to surmount all physical difficulties. 'Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.'"

Notable Examples

Illustrations were drawn from the experiences of the Apostle Paul, who was free to write many epistles to the churches and make a contribution that is imperishable even though chained to a Roman guard in prison, and from John Bunyan, who languished for years in Bedford jail because of his faith but was a free spirit and produced his great treatise on the Christian life, "Pilgrim's Progress," and from the example of Martin Niemoeller, a prisoner of the Nazi regime, who became a living symbol for all free peoples in Europe and around the world whose spirits could not be chained.

Rev. Holloway urged the graduates to use the greatest of all gifts, the right of free choice, in finding their highest self development and their completest self realization that is harmonious with the will of God for their lives. He said that "what Christ is to a man settles what everything else is to him. Our relation to Him determines our relation to the whole universe. If we belong to Him, everything belongs to us, and ultimate failure cannot come to those who have found this new freedom in Christ. If the Son shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed, for "all things are yours; and ye are Christ's, and Christ is God's."

Other Program Details

The seniors, in their dark blue caps and gowns, entered the church to the processional, "War March of the Priests," played at the organ by Miss Mayt Evangeline Lawrence, church organist.

Dr. V. E. Busler, pastor of Epworth church, gave the invocation. Two anthems, "Prayer Perfect," Spenser, and "We Thank Thee Lord," Bortniansky-Tkach, were presented by the Harding a cappella choir, under the direction of L. C. Jones. Scripture taken from the eighth chapter of John was read by Dr. Clem E. Iershey, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist church, followed by prayer by Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, of First Presbyterian church, and a hymn, "Come Thou Almighty King," by the audience. Rev. Henry Maag, pastor of Prospect Street Meth-

ARKANSAS AND OKLAHOMA HIT IN RURAL AREA

Many of Casualties Are Children as Twisters Leap-Frog Across States.

By The Associated Press

Tornado-lashed Arkansas and Oklahoma counted 39 dead today, hundreds of injured and thousands of dollars in property damage as the search continued for missing persons.

Hardest hit was a heavily populated rural area near Pine Bluff in southeastern Arkansas. Thirty-three bodies — 18 white persons and 15 Negroes—already were accounted for in mortuaries.

Even as searchers began a careful daylight check-up of the plantation fields and bayou swamps for 15 missing persons, Coroner E. D. Dupree said he believed his first report that 37 bodies had been recovered was correct but confusion may have resulted from the shifting of corpses from one funeral home to another.

Hundreds were injured as the twister leap-frogged across the rich Arkansas farming area yesterday, narrowly missing Pine Bluff with a population of 40,000. Most of the dead were children.

Town Nearly Leveled

In Oklahoma, three-fourths of the town of Leedey was leveled Saturday night. Six persons were killed and about 25 injured. The town has a population of 600.

Both states were hit earlier this year by severe storms. In April, tornadoes in northern Arkansas and northwestern Oklahoma caused more than 100 deaths and heavy property damage.

In yesterday's Arkansas storm, estimates of the number of homes destroyed ranged as high as 1,000.

So great was the force of the wind that bridges "were literally blown away across bayous" and trees were ripped to splinters.

Whole Families Wiped Out

"Whole families were wiped out," said Pine Bluff Mayor George Steed. "I saw 10 persons all in one heap. The buildings were leveled and the only evidence some had ever stood were the foundations."

The storm moved over a 20-mile course, across flat country broken only by bayous and hardwood timber stands in the lowlands. Mayor Steed said the storm area extended roughly from 10 miles southwest of Pine Bluff to 10 miles southeast of the city.

Taxicabs, private automobiles and trucks were used to bring the victims to Pine Bluff.

Some rural communities in the path of the storm were reported virtually wiped out. Many frame houses of tenant farms were in the area. The National Guard was called out to prevent possible looting of the wrecked buildings.

Hospital Augmented

Cots were used to augment the beds in Pine Bluff's hospital which was reported filled within two hours after the tornado. Other large buildings in Pine Bluff were opened to those with minor injuries and the homeless.

The alertness of Jack Sapp, a telephone worker, was credited with holding down the death toll in the Leedey, Okla., storm. He saw the twister approach and turned on the town's fire siren and shouted warnings over a loudspeaker system.

Rescue parties worked through the night with the aid of lanterns and flashlights since the town's power system was knocked out.

Leedey is south of Woodward, Okla., where 102 were killed April 9 by a tornado. Saturday's twister entered northwestern Oklahoma from Texas and passed near Gage and Arnett, Okla., before striking Leedey.

Arkansas Town Pushes Search for 15 Missing

By The Associated Press

PINE BLUFF, Ark., June 2—With 33 bodies in mortuaries, Jefferson county officials pushed their search today for an additional 15 persons believed missing after a tornado ripped a 50-mile path south of here, injuring hundreds and leaving hundreds more homeless.

Coroner E. D. DuPree who announced early today 37 bodies had been recovered, said he still believed that was correct, but that some confusion may have resulted from the shifting of corpses among the various establishments.

A check of the four mortuaries here showed 18 white persons and 15 Negroes.

The majority of the victims were children, including members of a Negro teen-age group.

CRIME LAID TO LACK OF FUNDS

Prison Conference Hears High Rate of "Repeaters" Could Be Cut.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 2 — A conference of prison officials from nine midwestern states was told today that "our high rate of repeated crime in America is due largely to our pinch-penny policies in the correctional field."

In an address prepared for the Central States Correction conference, Austin H. MacCormick of New York City, executive director of the Osborne Association, Inc., declared, "all correctional problems go back to the personnel problem.

"A city, state or nation can cut down the repetition of crime and delinquency by offenders who have been caught and convicted in almost the exact proportion to the amount it is willing to spend on personnel."

Salvage Possibilities Noted

The former commissioner of corrections for New York City declared "a well staffed probation service, costing $30 or $40 a probationer per year, can put one in four persons convicted of major crimes on probation and salvage 90 per cent of them."

Dana Allen, director of education at the Ohio reformatory, Mansfield, in a prepared address, said "our efforts are predicated upon the belief that human behavior can be modified in foreseen and desirable ways; and that the individual can change the pattern of his thoughts and actions."

"We also recognize," Allen said, "that the reformatory occupies a strategic position for accomplishing this function. First, the factor of custody is in our favor. We should, however, always remember that the youth who is committed to a correctional institution is not the mere chattel or property of the stae.

"Plan for Best Interests"

"It is the high duty of those who guide and direct his destiny to plan for his best interests; to help him find his place in society, and to prepare for that he may shape himself and society to ever nobler ends."

Delmar Huebner, assistant supervisor of the Wisconsin bureau of probation and parole, declared in a prepared discussion of parole supervision that "in administering a probation and parole program we are being increasingly impressed with the need for personalized service."

"The worker," Huebner said, "in dealing with his cases is constantly required to marshal a variety of social forces. Determining what 'social medicines' are necessary requires resourcefulness and imagination."

Highest Court Sets Review of Religious Education Dispute

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 2—The supreme court today agreed to review the Illinois supreme court's decision that religious education classes may lawfully be held in the public schools of Champaign, Ill.

Mrs. Vashti McCollum, 33-year-old mother of three sons, who describes herself as a "rationalist or atheist" seeks to ban the classes.

Her attorney in urging the tribunal to review the case said the appeal presented to it for the first time "the question of validity of sectarian religious education united with that of the public school."

Mrs. McCollum, wife of a University of Illinois professor, protested that her eldest son, James Terry, was embarrassed by being the only child in his class room not taking religious instruction. She argued the religious classes were a union of church and state barred by the federal and state constitutions.

Religious education classes were established in public school buildings in Champaign under an arrangement between the school board and the Champaign Council of Religious Education, an association of representatives of the Jewish, Roman Catholic and Protestant faiths.

The Illinois supreme court ruled the system was valid and said it was conducted on a "purely voluntary basis." Admission to the religious classes is granted on written request of parents. The religious instructors are paid by the council.

Fitzgerald quoted Mrs. McKenzie as saying that she shooting occurred as the McKenzies were leaving the Watsons' home in Veterans Village following an "all-day drinking party and an argument between the Watsons over use of an automobile.

McKenzie, his wife told the detective, heard shots inside the apartment, reentered and was shot down with a 30-caliber carbine which Watson then turned on himself after telling Mrs. McKenzie: "I love you and won't shoot you."

Both the McKenzies and Watsons arrived here recently from West Liberty, Ky.

POPE PLEADS WITH RULERS FOR PEACE

By The Associated Press

VATICAN CITY, June 2—Pope Pius XII today portrayed "fruitless conferences succeeding one another" and appealed to the world's peacemakers to grasp the remaining opportunities to restore normal relations among nations.

"The peoples, bitterly deluded in their desire for order, peace and reconstruction, are coming to lose patience and hope," the Pontiff said, but he admonished them: :"Fear not."

"There is always room for a peaceful settlement," he added. "May the rulers of the states not let slip this opportunity; it may be—God forbid—the last opportunity."

Pope Pius said stalemated commerce and unemployment in some nations might spread to others in the near future—"the prosperity of nations cannot be safe and secure if all do not share in it."

The Pontiff said the security which "was to have been the fruit of victory" and "for which humanity ardently aspires" had not yet been achieved.

The Pope, who as Eugenio Pacelli bears the same Christian name as Saint Eugene, spoke on Saint Eugene's day.

He talked of "the great questions, the formidable events of the present hour, the dangers that menace the world."

The Pope said history's verdict upon the year 1947—"already half of its course almost run"—would depend upon the coming months.

"Do not," he said to the world's rulers, "let this occasion pass."

Pulpit, Press Crusade Urged

New Christian Science Church Head Sees Spiritual Power as World's Hope.

BOSTON, Mass., June 2—Affirming that God rules the affairs of man, The Christian Science board of directors told the annual meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., that neither fear nor animality can give evil power to boost itself over good.

Supporting this challenge, Mrs. Helen Chaffee Elwell, newly elected president of The Mother Church, urged both pulpit and press to unite in a crusade of righteousness. The hour has struck, she indicated, "for the Church to dare to be a David."

To "the harassed employer and the dissatisfied worker" and to nations generally, the directors and the president of the Church held out the hope of harmony, not as a miracle, but rather as a simple witnessing to the fact that amity springs naturally from the application of spiritual power.

MRS. HELEN C. ELWELL
Incoming President of The First Church of Christ, Scientist

Not only improved industrial relations and better government, but also the health of the individual can be attained through spiritual understanding, the directors contended.

Continuing in this theme, Mrs. Elwell said: "There are those who see little hope for amity among the nations, who even despair of establishing harmony, peace, or even friendliness among the families of the earth. Their world is dark, indeed."

Cites Power of God

Beyond that, there are many persons who despair of coping with the unleased material forces of an atomic age, she pointed out. "Such thinkers," the speaker added, "need to learn the immanence of heaven, the omnipotence, omniscience, and omnipresence of the infinite God, good. . . ."

The directors' and The Mother Church president's remarks highlighted one of the largest annual meetings in years, with members of the church in session from various parts of the world. From California, England, Europe, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa came reports of a growing resurgence in religious activities.

This resurgence was evident, the church officials reported, announcements of the largest circulation in the history of the Christian Science periodicals. Lifting of import restrictions have increased sales in the British Isles and opened world-wide distributing channels once more, according to the trustees of The Christian Science Publishing Society.

Today, only one of the 48 states fails legally to recognize Christian Science as a healing medium, William D. Kirkpatrick, manager of committee on publication, reported. "That one state is Ohio," he said. Since the 1946 annual meeting, he pointed out, West Virginia and Maryland have passed laws legally recognizing the right of Christian Science practice.

The New Church Head

Mrs. Helen Chafee Elwell, C.S., of East Hebron, New Hampshire, and Boston, Mass. is a local member of The Mother Church. The preparatory years of her education were in New York, followed by the completion of her schooling in the city of Washington.

Christian Science first came to her family in the Philippine Islands while her father, Lt. Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, was military governor, following his command of the International forces in China during the Boxer Rebellion, and prior to his becoming Chief of Staff of the United States Army.

Mrs. Elwell become a member of The Mother Church in 1913, receiving class instruction in the same year.

THE NATION TODAY

Talk in Air but No Decision In Sight on "Universal Service"

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, June 2 — There'll be much talk now but don't expect the sore subject of universal service to be settled this year.

(Universal service is the nice language people in Washington use when they mean compulsory military training for young men.)

Talk of such a program was revived with a big bang over the holiday weekend. It can't happen until, or unless, congress passes a law.

James Marlow

But congress, which wants to quit for 1947 by Aug. 1, is already loaded down with work without tackling this problem.

There's been talk of compulsory training for the past two years but this is how it broke about again over the week-end:

A special commission, created by President Truman six months ago to study the subject, last night made its report.

Recommends Conscription

The report recommended about a year of military training for young men. It said we need trained men in case of a "sneak" atomic attack.

Altogether, the commission outlined eight steps, including compulsory training, which it thinks should be taken for national defense.

Last Friday a group of Republican senators issued a statement of their own, saying they were making a study of the whole problem of national defense.

This statement, like the report of the President's commission, listed eight steps which should be considered in setting up a national defense program.

Statement Vague on Issue

(It didn't mention universal training or compulsory training. The statement was vague on that score.)

When will the Republicans' full study, which seem to be paralleling that of the President's commission, be ready?

Sometime before congress goes home for the summer, probably.

One of the Republicans, Senator Dworshak of Idaho, said a staff of senators' assistants has been working on the study three or four months.

Started After Commission

(They apparently started work a couple of months after the President's commission started its work.)

Since it seems certain congress can't do anything about either study until 1948, which is a presidential election year, this writer asked Dworshak:

"Do you think compulsory military training may be a campaign issue in 1948?"

The senator said: "No. No one would let his country's welfare, the national defense, get involved in politics."

Louis Prima's Band At Cedar Point Opening

Louis Prima and his Orchestra are featured for the opening week at Cedar Point-on-Lake Erie starting Saturday, June 14—the first of a list of "name" bands to play nightly, change weekly, in the Grand Ballroom during the summer months.

Louis' trumpet and raspy voice, familar trademarks in the band business, still facade a brand of music that is particularly Prima; but during recent months his arrangements have swung "right" to the more restrained. Comprising three rhythm, five reed, and seven brass, his well-balanced orchestra is styled to please dancers and listeners both.

Jack Powers, a tall baritone, who was formerly a disk jockey for Armed Forces Radio in the ETO, is his featured vocalist. Cathy Allen is the girl singer.

Do you feel like you are tired all the time? Everytime you try to do something? If so, don't let a low blood count hold you down when you may release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.
Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

Beauty, Which Touches the Heart . . .
The language of beauty is the universal language, understood and appreciated by all. That's why beauty is so important in this world; why artists and writers and poets and composers have devoted their lives, from time immemorable, to passing on to others, in some imperishable form, their concepts of beauty.
In his own humble way, the funeral director makes his contribution to this cause. He realizes that every funeral service makes a deep and lasting impression upon the family and friends, and he does everything within his power to make that memory picture one of complete and unmarred beauty.

LONG CONGRESS VACATION DIM

Labor Bill, Coal Strike Threat Hint More Work for Legislators.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 2—Congress may have to cut short its summer vacation if (1) the threatened coal strike develops and (2) the labor disputes bill up for final passage this week becomes law.

Predictions that last week's collapse of wage negotiations will "somehow" President Truman to veto this bill, Senator Ellender (D-La.) said congress in any event may have to take a direct hand in John L. Lewis calls his United Mine Workers out of the pits.

In the absence of a new law, Lewis would do this after June 30 without the threat of federal intervention. That is the date expiration of the Smith-Connally plant seizure law forces the government to turn the mines back to private ownership.

The miners already are scheduled to go on a 10-day vacation beginning June27, so any walkout under their traditional "no contract—no work" policy would be delayed beyond that point.

Ellender told a reporter the possibility of a strike is going to make it more difficult than ever for Mr. Truman to veto the compromise labor bill, awaiting expected house approval Wednesday and a senate okay immediately thereafter.

"As the situation stands now, the President will be helpless to do anything at all if Lewis calls a strike after June 30," the Louisiana senator said. "On the other hand, if this bill becomes law, the government will have the right to step in with an injunction to stop a strike."

Senator Hill (D-Ala), who voted against the labor bill, conceded that the threat of a coal stoppage will make the President's decision more trying. But Hill stuck to his prediction that a veto will be forthcoming.

Forecasting that congress will override a veto if there is one, Ellender noted this might cut the legislators' vacation short if efforts to settle a strike fail.

Dedication of Carillon Opens Galion Church Centennial

Special to The Star

GALION, June 2—One of the most impressive services this community ever witnessed was the dedication of the $32,000 32-bell Deagan Carillon, the largest of its kind, at 4 p. m., Sunday, and the recital at 5 o'clock, two highlights of the day's services at Peace Lutheran church which were the first of a week's program observance of the one-hundreth anniversary of the church.

While showers in the afternoon cut down the attendance for the recital on the carillon by Miss June Albright of Chicago, renowned carilloneur, the beautiful notes pealed out over the air and could be heard by many in their homes, and parked automobiles.

The day's activities opened at 10:30 a. m., with a main service of Thanksgiving in the church auditorium at which time the speaker was Dr. Harold L. Yochum, president of Capital university, Columbus.

Besides special music, letters of congratulations were read by Rev. Philip E. Auer, pastor of the church, from Dr. Emanuel Foppin, president of the American Lutheran church; Dr. Henry Schuh, treasurer of the American Lutheran church and son of former members of the congregation.

Dr. J. W. Schillinger Attends

For the dedicatory service, Dr. J. W. Schillinger of Columbus, president of the Ohio District of American Lutheran church, was present to extend his congratulations personally.

Rev. Auer who has been pastor of the church since July 20, 1924, in his dedicatory address, "There is Music in the Air," compared the trumpets that Moses used to call people to worship with the modern carillon. He gave a brief history of the carillon which originated in Holland and Belgium in the middle of the fifteenth century.

Service at 4 P. M.

The service of dedication which opened at 4 p. m., Sunday with an organ prelude played by Mrs. R. M. Pounder, organist, was interspersed with hymns by the congregation. It also included a vesper service, the dedication sermon by Rev. Auer, presentation of the carillon by L. M. Liggett who with Mrs Liggett are the donors of the gift to the church and community, the acceptance of the carillon by Kenneth M. Petri, president of the congregation, and an anthem by the choir.

On Tuesday and Thursday evenings, Rev. and Mrs. Auer will be host and hostess at open house at the parsonage.

Other services during the week will be a community night service Wednesday at the church, an organ recital Friday night by Theodore Schaefer of Washington, D. C., former member of the congregation, and a home-coming service next Sunday morning at the church.

40 Et 8 Plans Memorial Services Here Tonight

Memorial services for deceased members will be held at the meeting of Marion County Voiture, No. 48 to the 40 et 8 Monday at 8 p. m. in the Legion Dugout. The service will be in charge of the national aumonier (chaplain) Monsignor Frank Wyegosky of Toledo. Other national and state officers of the organization will also be present, as well as members of local and neighboring units.

GOVERNMENT READY TO BUCK GRAIN MART

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 2 — The government has decided to buck the grain market for future supplies of wheat needed for export rather than try to fix a top price it is willing to pay.

In reporting this decision, responsible agriculture department officials said privately today they had concluded that the only way the government could be sure of getting supplies for needy areas abroad is to pay whatever the market demands.

Hopeful of keeping wheat prices from jumping back to the $3-a-bushel level reached last winter, the government had considered setting a price at which it would buy wheat, on the theory that such an offer would pretty well fix the market price.

This idea finally was tossed aside, however, because of the urgent needs of many foreign areas between now and their own fall harvests.

The International Emergency Food Council, inter-government agency which divides source foods among importing countries, has termed the situation in this pre-harvest period more critical in some countries than a year ago when this and other countries took emergency measures to speed supplies aboard.

The government was said to have concluded that if a federal purchase price were set farmers and others obtaining 1947 wheat would simply hold the grain. If so, valuable time would be lost in getting suplies overseas.

The tight transportation situation was said also to have played a part in the government's decision.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rexall Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; and possibly get instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly blemishes disappear—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Compulsory Military Training Or Disaster, America Warned

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 2—The nation heard from a commission of nine prominent civilians today that the compulsory training of some 800,000 American youths a year is an "urgent military necessity" in this world of insecure peace.

The alternative to that and other multi-billion dollar outlays for national defense is to invite "extermination," President Truman's advisory commission on universal training declared. The group painted this bleak picture of the future if its warning goes unheeded:

For a few years—from four to 10—"our monopoly of the atomic bomb and the availability of partly-trained veterans of World War II may serve as insurance against a sneak assault on the American homeland.

But the precipitate drop in the nation's state of readiness—"our military forces are a hollow shell"—will encourage "those to whom weakness on the part of peace-loving nations is a passport to aggression."

"Others Will Lose Faith"

Other countries who share our democratic ideals will lose faith.

And then:

"The mantle of totalitarianism will spread its darkness over still larger sections of the earth, increasing the peril to us and narrowing the company of those on whose aid we can count in the search for lasting peace."

The document was drafted and signed unanimously by the nine members of the commission headed by Dr. Karl T. Compton, scientist and president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The vote of urgency which the commission gave its findings was not echoed immediately in congress. There was every indication there that aside from possible enactment of an Army-navy unification bill this summer — a companion step urged by the commission—any long-range defense program will have to await the next session beginning in January.

Go Along with Truman

Although the Compton group went along with Mr. Truman's request that the official name of the project be only "universal training," with the original word "military" deleted, it asserted:

"The only basis on which universal training should be accepted, in our opinion, is a demonstration that it is needed to insure our safety in a world in which peace is not yet secure."

Other benefits—physical, mental and moral—would be "byproducts of a project which is made necessary by the state of the world today."

As proposed by the commission, the program would follow this outline:

On the basis of census figures, between 1,000,000 and 1,100,000 male youths would become eligible for training annually for the next few years (liability for training would start at age 18 or upon completion of high school, whichever occurred first).

750,000 Available

Out of this total, an estimated 200,000 would be physically or mentally incapacitated. An additional 50,000 to 100,000 would not meet present Army and Navy standards but still could be trained in some form. Taking variations into account a pool of not less than 750,000 or more than 950,000 thus would be eligible for training.

Basic training in camp or aboard ship (a choice of services would be given so far as possible) would last six months. The training would be consistent with developing weapons and techniques in warfare.

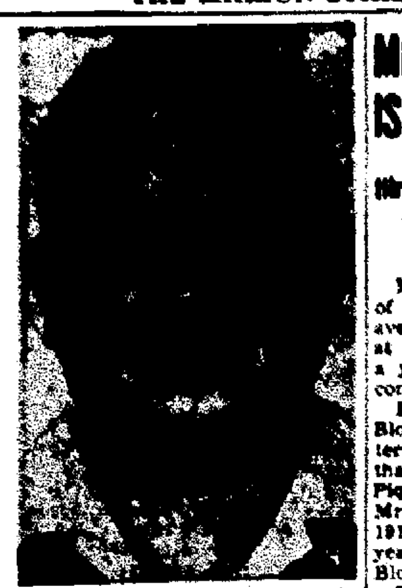

Upon completion of the six months basic training, a series of options would be open to the trainee, including enlistment in the regular Army, Navy or Marine corps, entrance into a service academy (West Point or Annapolis), enlistment in the National Guard or attendance at a college with an R.O.T.C. program.

The administrators: a commission of three members, two of them civilians, reporting directly to the President; a general advisory board representative of the public with local civilian advisory committees.

The cost: between $1,750,000,000 and $2,000,000,000 a year.

The time: The program would be under way about one year after approval by congress and would be fully effective in about five years. In other words, it would take that long to create a pool of men trained for duty in any emergency.

Near collapse, Mrs. Mary Lagano pecomes hysterical when informed that the body of a man fished from the East River, New York, had been identified as that of her husband, Alfred Lagano (right), a witness in the unsolved Election Day slaying of Joseph Scottorrigio, a Republican election worker. Lagano, American Labor Party district captain, disappeared last December shortly after he had been questioned by the District Attorney office. The case received congressional attention because Scottorrigio's fatal beating, while checking the balloting, occurred in Rep. Vito Marcantonio's hotly-contested district.

The Final Report

OHIO'S General Assembly has taken its final examination in public school aid and been given a passing mark by the state's school systems. The Daniels-Cramer school bill, boosting state and school aid to $82,000,000 a year, isn't perfect—but it's a long way from failure.

The important thing about this legislation isn't the amount of the increase in state school aid, nor the formula for distributing the money, but the fact it represents a victory over a reactionary opposition. If opponents of the Daniels-Cramer bill had succeeded, Ohio's school equalization program would have been frozen at existing levels. This was a fight in Ohio to prove what eventually will have to be proved in the whole nation: That educational opportunity belongs to all of the people, not just the people who happen to live in the country's wealthiest regions.

Ohio heard much about school lobbies and pressure groups during discussion of the Daniels-Cramer bill. It seemed strange that legislators who never complained about other lobbies that wined and dined them, and marched on Columbus to scare the daylights out of them should feel oppressed and even terrorized by schoolteachers and parents insisting that education in this state is worth fighting for. Fortunately, an overwhelming majority in both houses thought of the right answers when the bill came to its final vote; they agreed.

High Explosives in Missouri

KANSAS CITY'S vote fraud perpetrators apparently lost no time when the grand jury put the finger on them. The ink was scarcely dry on 78 indictments before safecrackers burglarized the Kansas City elections board vault and carries off ballots held as evidence.

The jury had asked a complete recount of all ballots cast last August in the 5th Missouri district primary. It had found "a deliberate, calculated and premeditated plan to miscount and otherwise steal votes" from three candidates, including former Congressman Roger Slaughter, strongly opposed by President Truman.

Attorney General Clark and the justice department had been over the same ground last year and said they were unable to find sufficient evidence to warrant prosecution. Nevertheless, the Kansas City Star had no trouble digging up hundreds of instances of fraud. These were turned over to the federal district attorney, who declined to act. That was when the county grand jury took over.

No credit is reflected on the White House, the justice department or Missouri politics by these latest happenings in Kansas City. Tom Pendergast is gone but the malodorous political machine he founded still lives. The blasts of safecrackers won't cover up the evidence of its corruption. They'll only underscore its wrongdoings with reverberations audible all the way to the justice department and the White House.

Another Amendment Proposed

THE HOUSE judiciary committee has begun consideration of a bill which would send to the states the second constitutional amendment proposed at this session. Previously sent to the states was the amendment providing for the presidential succession to pass from the vice president to the house speaker.

The new proposal would make each state's electoral vote proportionate to its popular vote in presidential elections. Under the present arrangement, presidential electors vote as a bloc, so it is possible in a closely-contested election for victory to go to the candidate with the smaller popular vote. This occurred in the Cleveland-Blaine campaign.

Another argument in favor of the amendment is that it would tend to break up the solid Democratic South and the almost equally solid Republican front in some northern and eastern states. Under this amendment, the votes of minorities would be reflected in the electoral college totals.

The proposal has a better chance of passage than the late Senator Norris' plan for outright popular election of presidents. Regardless of size, each state would retain its present relative importance in the electoral college. But it would end the present wide discrepancies between electoral and popular votes, as, for instance, in 1936 when Alf M. Landon polled 38 per cent of the popular vote but only 1½ per cent of the electoral vote.

Did You Know

Americans with incomes under $1,500 a year purchased 32 per cent of the life insurance policies sold in the United States in 1942 and only 16 per cent of the policies in 1944. Those with incomes of more than $5,000 a year purchased 7 per cent of the policies sold in 1942 and 16 per cent in 1944.

* * *

In 1945 the average family in the United States carried life insurance approximately equal to the annual income of the family, although the average family of 1920 had average insurance 50 per cent below its annual income, and in 1927 the insurance exceeded the annual income.

WASHINGTON, June 2—The inside explanation of major events from Washington lately may be found today in the place you would least expect it—the CIO news, a magazine hard to get, dated May 5.

You may peruse it with me. The leading article tells of a thousand union members visiting the capital "to the disgust of a lot of congressmen seeking to knife the people's interests," and continues:

"They talked with representatives and senators, left petitions and scrolls and headed home determined to spread the word that now is the time to prepare for the '48 elections. * * * said Luther Slinkhard, UAW-CIO official in St. Louis who spoke for a group of 32 Missouri unionists: 'Our visit with Missouri congressmen showed a shocking lack of recognition of the seriousness of the Hartley bill.' (Note to those who do not have time to read much news: the Hartley bill was largely discarded by the house and senate conferees last week.)

"The congressmen, with the exception of Reps. Cannon and Karsten, are either uninformed or badly informed * * * From Ohio came 150 CIO'ers * * * 50 of them crowding into a committee room for an interview with Senator Taft * * * were told by the senate GOP leader that labor was exaggerating the seriousness of the bill and that he has no objection to industrywide bargaining * * * the Ohio senator had gone to great lengths to keep that view out of the public eye. * * * conclusions of Lavelle and the Ohio group: 'We found many congressmen who voted for the Hartley bill and didn't know what they were voting for. * * * Indiana sent two groups of CIO Hoosiers to make life difficult for senators Senators Capehart and Jenner and for many GOP members of the state's delegations." * * *

Other Visits Reported

The article continues to tell of delegations visiting senators and congressmen from their home districts, south Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, New York, New Jersey, the New England States, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Kentucky and West Virginia, with similar tactics.

The article is headed: "Mr. Labor Comes to Washington." The final line says with innuendo: "and judging from what the delegates promised they'd report to the people back home (that?) a lot of congressmen must be having a bad case of red ears."

Now let us go over that again from the beginning. This sort of thing has been continuing since the beginning of consideration of the labor bills and before. In that time there have been no similar tactics by the public at large, interested solely in the public welfare, no delegations for them before congress in such a way or any other. Their weekly magazines, news services, etc. were not similarly active. In short, the people whose interests are thus reported to have been "knifed" did not even appear. The CIO plainly is assuming it solely represents the people's interests, an assumption hardly justified either by its limited members or this attempt in its own selfish interest. For an instance of this, the CIO editors carry a headline on page 5: "CIO Wage Gains Soar. Pay Hikes for Half a Million." They do not report that the wages of the other 134,500,000 people soar although these 134,500,000 are the people they profess to represent.

Success Reported

Now you might say this was not important unless it was successful. The CIO magazine shows you it is successful. Indented right into the same story is another story concerning this CIO campaign which started long before May 5 and continues in its unequaled attempt to influence public opinion. This indented story is headed: "For the Record. Another link in the anti-labor record of the daily press was forged last week. The Twohey analysis of newspaper opinion reported that 'support of stiff legislation on labor has crystalized and strengthened. The analysis, an objective survey of comment in the major daily papers, said that 48 per cent of editorial opinion last week concerned labor legislation.' Of comment on this subject 29 per cent favored the stiff house anti-labor bill, while 22 per cent preferred the equally vicious senate bill."

Now let us look at that again. If those percentages before May 5 expressed public opinion accurately then, they have certainly been changed by CIO activity. Also in this indented story the CIO is attacking the daily public press. But union members work in every newspaper office throughout the country, in reportorial, typographical, telegraphic and 1 thing other positions. The union thus is attacking its own industry, its own job. The extent to which it goes in this respect you may see from its own magazine on Page 11. A strong attack is carried there against a certain nationally known soup company, charging it with gambling with the nation's tomato crop. Then it adds: "the union has been trying to negotiate with ——soup company management since February * * *."

Indeed, the former Philadelphia publisher Mr. David Stern has testified the CIO local union in his extremly favorable shop chased him out of business.

A Barking Dog Never . . .

Well, Not Twice, Anyway

The Detroit postmaster has warned that mail deliveries will be ceased to homes where dogs bite postmen more than once.

Try explaining that to Rover.

Is the postoffice department changing its age-old motto: "Neither rain, nor snow, nor fear of rabies. . . ?"

The old-time Pony Express rider lived by the ruel that the mail must go through. But then he had only redskins and prairie wolves and saddle-fatigue with which to cope.

Those were the days when men were men . . . and there were no mail-order catalogs.

Carnivorous canines have long since replaced bunions as the postman's problem number one, the consequence being that Detroiters will henceforth chain their dogs or pick up their mail at the general delivery window.

Incidentally, now that the first bite is for free, I can just see the postman baring his shank to the strange pooch, saying, "Come on, doggie, this one's on me."

Home Mortgages at Peak

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON — The nation's debt on homes has reached an all-time high. A record increase in the amount of residential loans is accompanied by a big advance in the average size of home mortgages.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Administration estimates that the home mortgage debt is now well over $23,000,000,000, compared with a 1930 high of $21,259,000,000 following the building boom. At the close of 1945 it was $19,991,000,000. These figures do not include farm home mortgages.

The active market for real estate at inflated prices, the construction of new homes and guaranteed GI loans resulted in making 1946 the biggest year in the history of home financing. Home mortgages placed during the year totaled about $8,000,000,000, almost 40 per cent more than the previous peak in 1928.

The average size of new mortgages ($20,000 and under) recorded on non-farm homes increased from $2,722 in 1939 to $4,206 in 1946, a rise of 55 per cent. The biggest yearly advance was from 1945 to 1946 when home prices in many sections of the country were at record high marks.

Alarm Expressed

Government officials, state bank commissioners and others have voiced concern that many home buyers may be unable to carry heavy debts on houses bought at inflated prices. They say that, owing to the housing shortage, thousands of veterans and others have purchased homes which they probably cannot afford.

John H. Fahey, commissioner of the Federal Home Loan Bank Administration, has warned of the danger of "a repetition of conditions which caused the mortgage panic of the thirties, with its attendant obliteration of thousands of lending institutions and the loss of billions of dollars to people of small means."

Housing authorities, however, point out there are some favorable factors in the home mortgage situation now which did not exist back in the "boom" twenties.

Long Term Loans

One outstanding improvement is a great increase in the number of long-term amortized loans on house. An amortized loan provides for periodic payments which gradually reduce the amount of the loan as well as cover the interest on it. Many loans in the twenties were of the call type, payable on demand of the lender.

Housing officials estimate that the average amortized loan now runs for about 20 years, compared with an average of 12 years in 1930. Also, interest rates are lower than in the pre-depression period.

Another favorable factor in home buying today is higher income levels for many people. Department of Commerce statisticians estimate the average American will have an income after taxes of $1,097 in 1947 compared with $654 after taxes in 1929.

Last year and during the war years there was a large volume of loan payments. Increased income enabled many people to pay off old mortgages entirely.

Wallace's Barnstorming Tour

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, June 2—The formation of a third political party in the next 18 months is now a positive probability. That is the chief result of Henry Agard Wallace's apocalyptic barnstorming tour across the United States. The Wallace trip has added the final necessary ingredient—acute inflammation of the Wallace ego—which is necessary to a third party venture headed by Wallace.

The skimpy reports in most newspapers have not sufficiently emphasized the great crowds that have turned out to see and hear Wallace all along his route. The crowds have everywhere been organized, of course, by the Communist party and the extreme left labor groups. Equally obviously, besides a large element of sincerely troubled, wooly-minded people, the crowds have included many who went along in the spirits of yokels gaping at a two-headed calf at a county fair. But to Wallace and his entourage, crowds are crowds. Their applause has indubitably sapped Wallace's remaining will to resist, whatever he may say about it.

Therefore Wallace can be counted upon to yield to the intoxicating temptation, if the Communists, fellow travelers and fellow wanderers who now surround him really press him to raise the third party standard. The formation of a third party, as soon as circumstances should be favorable, has been a conspicuous feature of the American Communist line since the war. Working out this equation, the only uncertain factor is seen to be whether the Communist high command considers that the time has come to put its plan into effect.

Put Money On Line

Precisely in this connection, the Wallace barnstorming tour has produced another important result. Both the White House and the Republicans have had observers posted on the Wallace trail. And they have been sending back to Washington bug-eyed estimates of the cash Wallace has raised. In Chicago, for example, 28,000 people came to his meeting, and what is more laid money on the line for this dubious privilege. An Ed Kelly expert who was present, made the significant comment: "There wasn't a square in the house"—by which he meant that there were none of those well-drilled, hard-faced men in grey fedoras with whom the Chicago Democratic machine is accustomed to fill empty stands at big political rallies.

Wallace's Chicago take alone is estimated at $100,000. In Los Angeles, $40,000 is understood to have been collected in contributions in addition to the ticket sale. Altogether, the practical politicians rather ruefully estimate the total return from the trip at around $1,000,000. This puts Wallace in the Jenny Lind, General Tom Thumb class. It also provides a handsome kitty to be used in the organizing work of the Progressive Citizens of America, which is the embryo of the third party of the future.

At the same time, the Wallace barnstorming has given a powerful impetus to PCA recruiting. For months, the Communist party directive has made the PCA the chief front group. The major energy of the Communist leadership and rank and file has gone into building a skelton PCA right across the country. The puzzled, the confused, the seekers after Utopia who have cheered Wallace, are now everywhere being transformed into the flesh on these PCA party-line bones. In short, the leader, the financing, and much of the local machinery of a third party are already in existence. It only remains to give the signal, and a third party will come into full-fledged being.

White House Troubled

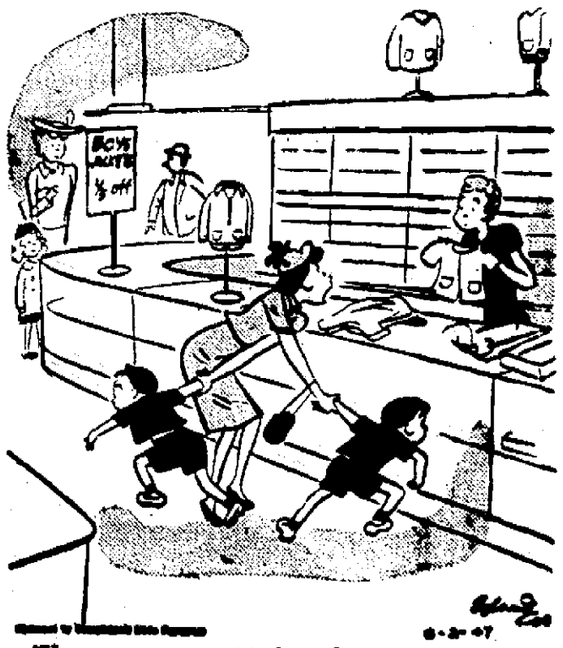

All of this is supremely troubling to the White House and the Democratic high command, as well it may be. Just to make matters worse, Wallace's efforts have been chiefly concentraied in states whence came Wallace delegations in 1944. And there is more than one of these which may well send a Wallace delegation to the convention in 1948. Minnesota, Wisconsin, California with its strange primaries, and Washington are all regarded as danger points. If Wallace can get even one delegation—and the possibility is admitted by Democratic chieftains on a very high level—the third party movement will probably start only after the Democratic convention. The forecast is that the convention will be used as the setting for a tremendous row about the platform and a vitriolic attack on President Truman, followed by a dramatic walk-out by Wallace in all his misty glory.

A third party will not poll a large vote, and will elect no one. Its effect will be, very simply, to encourage the Republicans to nominate a highly conservative, even isolationist candidate, and to elect any candidate the Republicans nominate by cutting Democratic strength in key states. But that will offend neither the Communists nor Wallace. The Communists want the next President to be, if possible, a Republican isolationist of the Robert R. McCormick stripe, in order to neutralize this country in world affairs. As for Wallace, he is sure that any Republican administration will usher in a great depression, and that a great depression will be his great opportunity. "My time," he has said more than once, "is 1952."

Nobody Can Surprise You More Than Mother

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 2—[illegible] can surprise you more [illegible] own mother.

Mom is crowding 60, and I thought I knew her pretty well. [illegible] all my life she seemed sometime to revisit Ireland, the land of her birth.

Hal Boyle

She came to this country as a young girl girl from County Mayo, and was seasick five days on the way over. She remembers it as one of the most terrible experiences of her life, and it has cured her of any taste for salt water.

She was the oldest of nine children—eight girls and a boy—and she had to help care for the others after her own mother died early. From the frying pan into the fire. Poor Mom! She only jumped [illegible] long after she came to this country that she was embarked on a family of five children of her own.

Sisters Follow Her

Her sisters followed her to America, one after the other, until only the one brother was left to take over the old farm in Ireland.

When her children were young Mom used to love to tell us tales of County Mayo and her childhood there. How the things she had wanted most desperately as a small girl was a china egg like the one a neighbor had to keep hens laying. How her father, who worked from before dawn until after sunset, had one luxury in his life: his mother used to get up first so she could bring him the breakfast tea to his bed. It was a good formula—the old man lived well into his eighties.

From all these stories we somehow got the idea that Mom still carried in her heart a hunger to see Ireland again. But when the boys recently talked over sending her back for a visit, it turned out she just wanted to keep County Mayo where it was—in her memory.

Would Do No Good

She said it would do no good to go, that everything would be changed and her children friends scatterd or dead. And she had another reason.

"I really am so happy in America that I never want to leave it," she said. And for the first time in my life—after knowing her all these years—I learned what an adventurer mother was. She hadn't come timidly or hesitantly to America. But vigorously and eagerly. Searching for what she wanted—a chance for a better life.

"I wanted to come after I saw the chance in people who had gone to America and come back on a visit," she said. "There was more to them. I felt then that America must be the land of opportunity.

"My biggest regret is that I wasn't born in America. I would like to have lived here 50 years earlier and helped pioneer the west."

No Foreign Intanglements

"But I wouldn't want to get into any intanglements with the Indians.

I asked her just what a particular advantage life here has over the old country, and she said:

"It is education—the public school system in America. It is wonderful. All can share in it. There is nothing like it."

Mom educated herself by home reading—chiefly newspapers—but the schools were there for her children. She believes that overseas service taught many young people during the war to see for the first time the merit of their country.

America Most Beautiful

"Of all the lands in the world America is the most beautiful," she said. "Whoever leaves America and returns, comes back loving its shores more and more."

She herself wants to see "all the history of the United States—Indepenence hall, Mount Vernon, Alexander Hamilton's tomb, yes, and Hollywood, too."

So this summer she is going to give the kitchen stove a rest and see America first—taking along the Irish brogue she's never lost. She does hope to shake off the rheumatism that developed this spring.

"I can't see how anybody would want to leave here after 40 minutes—let alone after 40 years," she said.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Gastro-Intestinal Allergy

A person who becomes ill through eating certain foods which are harmless to others is said to have a food allergy. For instance, strawberries, a great delicacy for most people, cause a certain few to break out in an itching, burning rash. Another person, eating a food to which he happens to be over-sensitive, may develop symptoms affecting the stomach or bowels. This is known as a gastro-intestinal allergy.

According to Dr. Robert Chobot of New York, in some cases, the patient may react within a period of fifteen minutes to one hour. In other cases, a period of as much as three days may elapse before symptoms may develop.

Dr. Chobot also believed that if a child has a food sensitivity, it usually lasts until he is about five years of age and then, for some reason or another, tends to disappear.

In the infant, gastro-intestinal allergy usually is responsible for such things as colic, vomiting, and pains in the abdomen. The foods which most often produce the trouble are milk, eggs and wheat products.

It is occasionally possible, in cases of children sensitive to milk, to overcome the symptoms by giving evaporated milk, since heating seems to alter the protein part of the milk in such a way that it no longer produces trouble.

In other instances, it may be necessary to employ some milk substitute, such as a preparation made from soy beans. When a child is sensitive to eggs, of course the eggs may be eliminated entirely from the diet.

In the adult, gastro-intestinal allergy produces such symptoms as pain in the abdomen, burning sensations, and the presence of excessive amounts of gas in the stomach and bowel. Of course such symptoms may be produced by a variety of disorders, such as gallbladder disease, ulcer of the stomach, constipation and similar conditions. Hence, if it is suspected that the trouble is due to allergy, careful study must be carried out in order to be sure. It must be possible if the symptoms are due to allergy, to reproduce them by giving the patient some of the food to which he is sensitive.

Foods which seem to be particularly responsible for producing the symptoms are sea foods, nuts and again, milk and eggs. Of course, in all cases, the treatment involves eliminating from the diet completely the foods which are producing the difficulty.

Let Us Show You a Fine Funeral Home . . .

A great many people who live in Marion and vicinity have come to our Funeral Home to attend services. However, such an occasion affords little opportunity to see all that has been provided for the convenience and comfort of patrons.

Besides the more obvious items such as the Everett organ and real air conditioning, patrons have been surprised to find how many things have been done for their comfort. Also they find plainly marked prices on all funeral merchandise. It enables them to select as they desire and at a price they are willing to pay.

At any convenient time, come and let us show you a really fine Funeral Home. There will be no obligation in such a call.

PITTSBURGH MOTOR FREIGHT STRIKEBOUND

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, June 2—Motor freight transportation in the Pittsburgh district was crippled today by a strike of 2,500 AFL drivers demanding higher wages.

Approximately 1,800 trucks engaged in interstate, intercity and intracity freight hauling were tied up. Shipments from railroad warehouses and truck terminals, as well as those going over the road, were halted.

Railroads reported freight shipments into Pittsburgh were discontinued for the duration of the strike to avoid a tie up of box cars at warehouses. Only emergency shipments were being accepted.

Consumers were not expected to feel results of the strike for a week or 10 days.

Contracts with more than 100 operators expired Saturday midnight. The Western Pennsylvania Motor Carriers association is standing on an offer to boost wages 15 cents, against the union's reduced demand of 35 cents. The AFL General Teamsters, Local 249, originally sought increases varying from 75 cents to $1 hourly, originally sought increases varying from 75 cents to $1 hourly, claiming that their increases since 1939 totaled only 35 cents an hour."

Rates now range from $1 an hour for ordinary truck helpers to $1.85 for drivers of double-bottom truck-trailers.

Hoover Calls for RFC To Be Extended 3 Years

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 2 — Herbert Hoover urged congress today to prolong the life of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation two or three years beyond the present June 30 deadline.

The former president proposed limitations against loaning "cheap money" in competition with private institutions.

Moreover, he said all RFC loans to foreign countries or persons should be prohibited. He suggested broad revisions that "would tend to get the institution out of the lending business except during economic emergencies."

Hoover's views were embodied in a letter to Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich) of the house banking committee, now considering legislation to continue RFC.

SENATE ACTION ON SCHOOL BILL IS DUE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 2 — House amendments to the Dan-Cramer school bill may come before the senate of the state legislature tonight.

The house amended the bill to fix public school state subsidies on a $53,500,000 annual basis after the senate had passed the measure to provide annual subsidies of $89,000,000.

It was considered likely the senate would refuse to accept the amendments which the house passed in a stormy session Thursday and that the bill would be sent to a conference committee.

The legislators had a tense week before them with most major legislation problems still to be solved.

One major bill is the $300,000,000 soldier bonus proposal which has been sent to a conference committee for adjustment of differences between the senate and the house. A controversial amendment before the committee this week is the house proposal for an additional one cent tax on cigarets to help finance the bonus bonds over a 15-year period.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 2—A 25-year-old wife of 10 months was credited today with saving her husband's life by digging him out of a 10-foot earthen entombment with her hands.

Buried alive, police said, was Richard M. Peck, 28, after he descended into a ditch near the couple's new home yesterday at nearby Parma, and the walls of crumbly, rain-soaked earth caved in on him.

Mrs. Peck was sitting in their automobile when she heard his muffled cry, she said, and she scurried to thes pot at the words: "Mary, Mary, please get me out of here!"

Calling for help, Mrs. Peck said she started digging frantically without being certain precisely where her husabnd was buried. But soon she found his head and with the help of neighbors hauled him out of the near-tomb.

Yanks Keep Seizure Of Nazi Gems Secret

By The Associated Press

FRANKFURT, June 2—American seizure of $1,000,000 worth of German royal jewels after they were smuggled from the Soviet occupation zone was kept secret by the U. S. Army for seven months "because of the possibility of complications involving the Russians," military sources said today.

Although the jewels, belonging to the royal family of Sachsen-Weimar-Eisenach, were intercepted near the zonal border last October, it was only a few days ago that their seizure was made known.

One official commented that if the Russians had taken offense at German forces retaining custody of the gems "it might have made Secretary of State Marshall's task at the Moscow foregin ministers' conference more difficult."

Police Guard Executive Threatened with Death

By The Associated Press

PEORIA, Ill., June 2—A police guard was maintained today at the home of Louis B. Neumiller, president of the Caterpillar Tractor Company, to protect him against threatened assassination.

During Neumiller's absence from home Saturday night, he said his daughter, Martha, 15, received a telephone call in which a man was quoted as saying: "Tell your father he and his kind are not fit to live. He will be out there at midnight. He'll get the same thing McNear got."

George P. McNear, president of the Toledo, Peoria and Western Railroad, was fatally shot from ambush near his home the night of March 10 while a strike of 13 railroad brotherhoods was in effect against his company.

Neumiller said he knew no reason for the threat.

U. S. Ending Mining Administration With Record Coal Output

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 2—The one-year-old coal mines administration headed down its last mile today to the tempo of the greatest peacetime production of soft coal in the nation's history.

Navy Capt. N. H. Collisson, coal mines administrator, told a reporter bituminous coal production from June 1, 1946, when the government started operating the mines, through May 17, 1947, was 587,435,000 tons, a 3 per cent increase over the corresponding period in 1945-46.

The bureau of mines said production during the calendar year through May 17 was 238,832,000 tons, a 36.7 per cent increase over the tonnage for the corresponding period in 1946.

If tonnage for the last half of May equalled the 26,000,000 tons mined during the first two weeks, production for the first year of the federal coal mine administration, exceeding 613,000,000 tons, will be the second highest annual output on record.

The greatest coal-producing year was wartime 1944, with 619,576,000 tons.

Auto Deaths Eclipse Tornadoes, Crashes

By The Associated Press

Despite the nation's two worst airplane crashes and two disastrous tornadoes, automobile mishaps again headed the list today of violent holiday deaths over the Memorial day weekend.

The total of 214 traffic fatalities was far ahead of the 164 for the same holiday weekend last year but well under the 275 predicted by the National Safety council for the period up to last midnight. The total from all causes was 480, compared with 292 last year.

The 95 deaths in the two airplane crashes and the 43 known dead in tornadoes in Oklahoma and Arkansas boosted the toll from miscellaneous violent causes, homicides excepted, to 203. Drownings totaled 58.

New York, with 68 fatalities including 42 in Thursday's plane crash at La Guardia field, New York City, led the list of states.

By The Associated Press

Russell Bausman, 18, was shot by Patrolman H. C. Moore when he reached for a revolver in his belt after Moore commanded him to submit to arrest, the patrolman said.

Moore said he and Patrolman W. C. Stevens received a report that Bausman was "terrorizing" west end residents by brandishing a revolver and that they found the youth and Melvin Snowden, 20, of Dayton, at a street intersection and ordered them to put up their hands.

Bausman's mother, Mrs. Helen Bausman, said her son had been "nervous" since his discharge a month ago after 18 months of service in the Marines and had been "drinking a little."

In the other shooting, ruled homicide today by Coroner A. T. McDonald, Delaney Braun, 24, was killed after a quarrel at the home of his brother-in-law, Orville Akers. Detectives said Akers, held for questioning, declared that he shot Braun after Braun threatened him with a club.

First speaker was Robert "Bobby" Jones of Radnor, of the state department of agriculture Mr Jones former holder of the group's American Farmer award emphasized the part farm residents must take in all phases of life, and advised members to follow closely the principles of the organization to be guided in a successful farming career

Stresses Health Angle

Dr Foreman in his talk pointed out the importance of proper nutrition as a basis of health, both on the farm and in the city "Soil conservation is necessary for the production of foodstuffs," Dr Foreman declared, stating that the future of farms in this country rests with young men like the members of the F F A He urged Future Farmers to care for their health, pointing out that in many instances farmers are more careful of the health of their livestock than they are of their own well-being.

"I want to warn you against success," Mr Smart author of "R F D" and Sassafras Hill," told the group "The danger is real," he continued "of that successful men and women achieve materially and emotionally, and yet life seems to have lost its content" Those who have such success, he declared, have enjoyment of nature and take farm life as a grim business. He acknowledged that farm life has hardships, pointing out that those who enjoy the beauty of nature around them and the "little things" of life are not always the most successful materially but the happiest men. Mr. Smart is author in residence at Ohio university, Athens. His home is in Chillicothe.

Farnsworth Speaks

Frank Farnsworth of Lucas county state director of agriculture, outlined the history of the state agriculture board from 1846 when the first board was formed. He also outlined briefly plans for relocating the Ohio state fair grounds as provided in a bill introduced to the state legislature He praised the Future Farmer organization, at the same time warning against "isms" being spread through the country.

Bath, former legislative representative for the Farm Bureau and present executive secretary of the Ohio board of agriculture, urged the audience individually to pay more attention to government. "Local government at the local level is the laboratory for state and national government," he stated.

Regrets of Governor Herbert that he was unable to attend were given by John R. Jones, secretary to the governor. Governor Herbert, he said had already accepted Memorial day weekend engagements in northern Ohio which made it impossible for him to be in Marion

A portion of the banquet was broadcast nationally on the American Broadcasting company's "American Farmer" program, and later portions were heard locally and advisors were Robert Jones through Station WMRN.

BRITISH INDIAN PLAN READIED

Announcement To Come Tuesday; Believe Major Parties Have Accepted.

By The Associated Press

NEW DELHI June 2—A communique said late today the British plan for transferring power to Indian hands would be announced tomorrow, indicating that major Indian political parties had accepted the proposals or were expected to do so on Tuesday

The communique said the viceroy, Lord Mountbatten, would broadcast tomorrow night and that the text of the British plan would be read immediately afterward over all stations of the all-India radio

The British plan for withdrawal from the teeming subcontinent after 150 years was placed before the seven dominant Indian politicians by Lord Mountbatten today while heavily armed troops and police stood guard to prevent any renewal of violence between Hindus and Moslems in the tense capital. The British plan to quit India by next June

No Incidents Reported

Despite fears that the conference might be the signal for fresh demonstrations by this teeming country's widely divided political and religious faiths, no incidents had been reported here up to midday when the smiling but tight-lipped Indian leaders emerged from the vice regal palace.

The precautions which had been taken against rioting in New Delhi were duplicated in other recent trouble spots—including Bombay, Calcutta and the Punjab

None of the Indian conferees—who included representatives of the predominantly Hindu Congress party, the Moslem league and the Sikhs—gave any indication of the nature of the plan presented to them or of their reaction to it

Final Appeal Seen

However, it was generally conceded that Mountbatten made a final appeal for adoption of the British cabinet mission plan for a united India The alternative, to which the British were reported reluctantly ready to agree, was partition of India into Hindustan and an independent Moslem state of Pakistan.

The Congress party already has approved the cabinet mission's plan The Moslem league rejected the plan after first accepting it in principle, and there seemed no reason to hope for a last minute change in the Moslem attitude Although the league has ministers in the interim government it has refused to participate with Congress members in the constituent assembly writing a charter for Indian independence.

HUNGARIAN OFFICIAL FLEES RED ARREST

By The Associated Press

BUDAPEST, June 2—A reliable informant said today that Bela Varga, speaker of the house and No 2 man in the government of former Premier Ferenc Nagy, had fled Hungary to avoid Communist arrest and was presumed to be in the American zone of Austria.

The informant a close friend of Varga, said that the speaker was driven last night to Copron, near the Austrian border in northwestern Hungary, and he planned to dash across the Russian zone to the American area

"I know he was met by a reliable guide with a fast car and I presume he safetly got across," the informant said.

Ferenc Nagy's friends say the Communist's have threatened Hunagry's erstwhile premier with a treason prosecution to keep him from telling how he came to resign

They declared a trial in absentia was in store for Nagy if he violated a reported agreement not to talk with western diplomats about weekend shifts in the Hungarian government.

Cubs Drop 3 Games To Zanesville 4-3, 5-1 and 3-1

Edington, Lawrence, Rosin Fail To Trip Up Rampaging Dodgers

Special to The Star

ZANESVILLE, June 2—It was a lost weekend for the Marion Cubs as they bowed to the Zanesville Dodgers 4-3 Saturday night and lost a doubleheader here yesterday 3-1 and 5-1.

Tonight the Cubs will play a single game at Newark with a twin bill with the Browns scheduled for tomorrow night They'll return to Lincoln park for a makeup game with Lima Wednesday night.

Lost Weekend

Marion's Sunday first game run came in the third inning when Maxhimer walked with two gone, stole second and scored as Burbrink doubled off the centerfield fence.

Wins Own Game

Sandy Lambert won his own game in the fifth inning when he hit a 380-foot home run over the double-decked barrier in right field. Francie Colandro, who was safe on a fielders choice, scored ahead of him. Zanesville tallied three unnecessary runs in the eighth on four hits, including a double by Red Lien. A throwing error by Smith and a sacrifice also figured in the scoring.

In the second game Marion tallied one run in the third as Hollingshead safe on Liens boonle, scored following singles by Smith and Burbrink.

Tally in Second

Zanesville tallied two in the second on a walk, two singles and a double by Maurice Mikesell Frankie Colandro suffered a dislocated collarbone in this inning in a play at home plate Successive triples by Lien and Tom Dobkins with one gone in the eighth were good for the Dodgers final run Both blows were into the right field corner.

Charley Anderson, southpaw, was forced to retire after the sixth frame after suffering a split finger on his throwing hand in the fifth frame while fielding a hot shot off the bat of Bobzean

Rosin Blows Lead

Bill Rosin had a two-hit shutout going into the eighth inning Saturday night but he let it get away from him as Zanesville rallied to take the series opener from Marion, 4 to 3.

Marion scored twice in the second inning and again in the sixth to take a 3-0 lead at the expense of Johnny Rogan and with Rosin breezing along despite occasional wildness, it looked like an easy Marion victory.

But with one away in the eighth, Zanesville rallied for two runs on Joe Belcastro's double, a walk to Ray Dabek, Ken Lien's infield single on which Gene Bobzean threw wildly and walks to Frank Colandro and John Poptinka.

Maurice Mikesell scratched a hit to third to open the ninth and after Bob Bartholomew fanned and Joe Belcastro bounced out, Hollis DeArmond lined a triple against the right field wall, scoring Mikesell, and tallied the winning run on Dabek's single through short

Burbrink Gets 3 Hits

With one away in the second, Manager Nelson Burbrink got the first of three consecutive hits and took third on Jim Forbes single but the latter was nailed trying to take second on the play After Mel Nelson walked, Mel Wiebel and Rosin singled to score Burbrink and Nelson.

In the sixth, Burbrink tripled to right-center and rode home on Forbes' double to the same field

Muncie Wins One Game; Lima Splits Twin with Newark

By The Associated Press

The Zanesville Dodgers copped a doubleheader from Marion's Cubs yesterday (Sunday) 5 to 1 and 3 to 1 to take an Ohio State league lead of three and one-half games over second-place Springfield

Springfield was never in the ball game with Muncie at Springfield, as the Indians team rammed over four runs in the first frame, three in the second and went on to win 10 to 3 in a 13-hit barrage including a home run by shortstop Tom Gatjanis Rain cancelled the second half of the scheduled twin bill

Rain washed out both games of Dayton's doubleheader at Richmond, but a full twin bill was completed at Newark where the home team Browns grabbed the first game from Lima 8 to 3 but were nosed out in the eighth and final frame of the second game 5 to 4.

Bob Brunner of Newark scored his fourth straight pitching triumph in the opener, helped by homers of Johnny Batt and Ed Palko.

In the nightcap, umpire John Staley gave Bob Mather of Lima first base on a ruling of interference and chased Newark Manager Eddie Dancisak for protesting After came in with the run that broke a 4-4 tie

SCHLAIRET TROUNCES CUB TRAINEES 12-8

Game Called in Seventh as the Rains Return.

Schlairet took the Cub Training school from Mansfield 12 to 8 at Lincoln park yesterday. It was the first game they were able to get in after several successive Sunday rainouts

Rain still played an important roll as it was necessary to call the game after six and one-half innings. Bacon was on first with none out in the bottom of the seventh when rain forced the finish.

Osborne French and Earl Reed wielded the big sticks. French hit safely four for four and Reed got a over-the-scoreboard home run, a couple, and a single.

Gail Stout, centerfielder, proved to be the fielding sensation of the tilt as on four occasions his handling of fly balls gyped Mansfield batters out of hits that looked like they were going for extra bases

Howard Dillion, the regular Schlairet catcher, was out because of an eye injury suffered at work and duties behind the plate were handled by his brother Harry "Junior" Dillion.

Yanks, Giants Bring Visions To New York of "Subway Series"

By The Associated Press

Jubilant New York fans, envisioning the possibility of their first Giant-Yankee subway World Series since 1937, proudly pointed today to the slugging Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees and Johnny Mize of the Giants as the belting bellwethers who may lead their respective flocks into the October classic.

DiMaggio, after a slow start, is hitting on all cylinders again, looking more and more like the DiMag of old. In the past two weeks, the older of the DiMaggio brothers has upped his batting average more than 100 points and currently is hitting .352, two points under his teammate George McQuinn, the league leader.

Mize Leads All

Big Jawn Mize leads all major league batsmen with a mark of .370, and his superior slugging is the number one reason Mel Ott's charges are at the top of the National league, leading the Chicago Cubs by one-half game.

DiMag banged two round trippers yesterday, one with the bases loaded, to lead the Yankees to an 11-9 victory over the Cleveland Indians before 47,132 fans at Municipal stadium. With the first game of the double header delayed by rain, the second was halted by darkness.

Mize contributed five hits in eight times at bat as the Giants came from behind to earn a split with the Cincinnati Reds before 45,795 fans at the Polo grounds. The Reds, aided by Eddie Miller's 10th home run in the ninth inning with one on, won the opener 5 3, but the Giants slugged out a 13-9 victory in the nightcap

Cubs Lick Phillies

Clyde McCullough's triple after Bob Sturgeon had reached first on Jim Tabor's error in the eighth inning broke a 3-3 tie and gave the Chicago Cubs a 4-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies

The Boston Braves swept both ends of a double header with the Pittsburgh Pirates in Boston, 2-0 and 8-7.

Rookie righthander Harry Taylor came through with another fine pitching performance, holding the St Louis Cardinals to five hits in hurling the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 6-1 win at Ebbets field.

Home runs by Jeff Heath and Vern Stephens, combined with the six-hit pitching of Jack Kramer, gave the St Louis Browns an easy 7-2 win over the Philadelphia Athletics Rain washed out the second game of the scheduled double header in St Louis

Rain also caused the postponement of twin bills between Chicago and Boston and Washington and Detroit in the American league.

"GIVE 'EM BEST" IS HARDER'S FORMULA

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 2 — Jog down to the Cleveland Indians dugout some day and ask Mel Harder how he's managed to pitch for almost 20 years while dozens of his contemporaries were retiring for less strenuous jobs

This is his simple formula:

"I give 'em the best I've got If it gets them out, I'm glad. If it doesn't, I don't stay awake nights brooding about it.

"After all, those guys are paid to hit, too"

That's Mel nothing fancy. Just plays it straight

The prescription seems to work, too, as 37-year-old Mel demonstrated Memorial day when he took over the Chicago White Sox with a five-hit job for his 216th victory. And he walked only one batter. Manager Lou Boudreau says of him "If we came to the last two games of the season and we had to win 'em to cop the pennant, my pitchers would be Bob Feller and Mel Harder"

That about a guy who was pitching when Boudreau was in the fourth grade of grammar school.

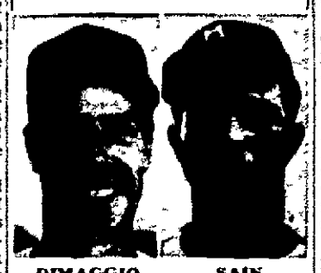

Bill Veeck, Mel's employer, has assured him that he can piten for the Indians as long as there's an inning's pitching left in his arm and that another job in the organization awaits him when he's done.

"Say about five years from now," says Bill

HARNESS RACES OPEN

CHICAGO, June 2—Grand circuit harness racing, returning to the Chicago area for the first time since 1929, opens a two-week stand tonight at half-mile suburban Maywood park.

Batting, Joe DiMaggio, Yankees—Drove in five runs and scored three with four hits in five times at bat to lead the Yankees to an 11-9 win over the Indians. Two of hits were home runs, one coming with the bases full.

Jolted Indians Admit DiMaggio in Trim

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., June 2 — Jolted by "Jolting" Joe DiMaggio, the Cleveland Indians admitted today that the rejuvenated Yankee Clipper has returned to his sensational pre-war form

Carrying a slim 7-6 lead into the eighth inning yesterday, the Tribe's victory hopes received a four-run jolt in the form of DiMaggio's grand slam homer as the New Yorkers copped their second straight triumph 11-9 over the Indians in a weird contest watched by 47,132 fans

Charley (King Kong) Keller started the seven-homer slugfest in the second, soaring into American league leadership with his 12th circuit clout. DiMaggio then duplicated Keller's feat.

A downpour which delayed the game more than an hour, failed to cool off the Bronx Bombers. They renewed their assault on Tribe starter Steve Gromek to build up a 5-1 lead. New York first gaseman George McQuinn contributed the third Yankee homer during the rally

Staging a four-run uprising in the fifth, the Indians climbed back into the ball game, and appeared to have it tucked away in the seventh when relief pitcher Bob Lemon and Hal Peck belted consecutive round trippers

Eddie Robinson clouted his fourth homer with one aboard in the eighth to spark a desperate Tribe rally, but the Redskins never overcame the effects of DiMaggio's second four bagger

Nine pitchers toiled in the free-hitting tilt, and Lemon was charged with his first loss, while Lyons received credit for the victory The second game was postponed until today because of darkness

The Indian's fronts office announced today that some 10,000 fans who failed to use their tickets for yesterday's scheduled doubleheader would be given tickets to a future game by applying at the box office.

Red Embree and Al Gettel were slated to hurl for the Tribe today as the Indians attempt to salvage the final two games of the series against the Yankees' Don Johnson and Mel Queen

In-and-Out Reds Split with Loop-Leading Giants

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 2 — Cincinnati's in-and-out Redlegs played just that yesterday as they divided a twin bill with the league-leading New York Giants

Eddie Miller clubbed a two-run, ninth inning homer to give the Reds a 5-3 decision in the opener and, for six and a half innings of the second game, it looked like they were in the win column again.

Leading 9-4, the Rhinelanders fell before a six-run giant outburst in the nightcap seventh and stayed down the rest of the way to lose 13-9.

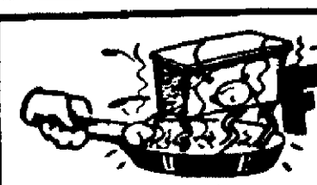

Ewell Blackwell, Cincinnati's ace pitcher, wasn't around for the finish of the first game, retiring in the seventh because of a sore elbow with the contest deadlocked 3-3 Harry Gumbert, the winner, held the Giants for two rounds as Miller's tenth circuit blow of the season settled the issue.

Elmer Riddle, making his first start since 1945, was given a good send-off at the Reds collected five runs in the opening round of the nightcap. But the Giants kept pecking away at him and he was lifted in favor of Joe Beggs in the fifth with the Reds still ahead 7-4.

Beggs lasted until the seventh, when the Giant bats began booming, and Gumbert made his second appearance of the day, staying long enough to be charged with the defeat.

Johnny Mize, the Giants' slugging first sacker, had five hits for the day in eight trips to the plate, four of them were doubles.

The Giants send Clint Hartung and his 4-0 record against the Reds today in the finale of the three-game series. Bucky Walters, veteran Redleg right-hander who has won two and lost two, opposes him.

29—MUSICAL MERCHANDISE

HERE'S a serious thought for you parents. Are you one of the many adults who were deprived of or neglected to acquire a musical education? If you are, you no doubt regret this bitterly. You now probably realize that life is hardly complete without the knowledge of this fine art. So don't let this happen to YOUR children. Be sure that every opportunity and encouragement is given THEM to learn music. At our store, you will find hundreds of new and used instruments and pianos so that little effort on your part will be required to encourage your child's music study.
Friends, whether the knowledge and appreciation of music is used as a profession or only for personal enjoyment, it is definitely an important part of our American culture. Every child, if at all possible, deserves to be given an opportunity to learn music. If the lack of a good musical instrument is the reason for the delay in furthering your child's education in this fine art, we can solve that problem for you.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

"I'M on my way!" Noel said excitedly. "Good-bye!" And the receiver clicked sharply.

I waited for a minute then opened the door into the bedroom and put my head through the aperture.

'Noel's on his way up," I said. "I'll wait here and let him in."

"Kindly close the door when you take your head out of that crack," Katharine said loftily. "I feel a distinct draught."

"Check!" I told her with a grateful grin as I closed the door for again she had solved one facet of my problem.

I had but a minute or two to wait. Noel evidently had slammed out of the Veritz en living room as soon as he had hung up the telephone receiver, and had raced down the single flight of stairs, scorning the elevator. At any rate he was breathless when, as the knocker sounded, I went to the door.

'Sit down" I admonished him "and pull yourself together. You can't see Mary until you've calmed down. She'd be terribly upset."

"Sorry!" he gasped, as he sat down abruptly in the nearest chair while I took one opposite him as quickly, for I knew he would be on his feet again if I did not get off mine.

Will Be All Right

"I didn't think of anything but getting down here," he said, wiping his forehead. 'But I'll be all right in a minute."

'Are you in shape to listen to me?' I asked in an undertone.

He shot a quick look at me. 'Yes. Is there anything wrong?'

'No, but there will be if you jump to conclusions, and do not pull yourself together.'

'I'll be careful," he said, in something very near the tones of a small boy promising. "I'll be good."

"Then listen carefully," I said. 'I have told Mary that the only thing I told you this morning was that she was better. Please keep that in mind as I elaborate on that news."

His eyes widened with understanding and attention, but he said nothing as I went on rapidly.

"Here is what Dr. Twitchell told me,' I said. 'Mary is better, but her nerves are still too badly frayed for her to be moved from her present quarters or subjected to any excitement.

To Be Kept Quiet

"She is to be kept quiet" I went on, "given sedatives at night to insure unbroken sleep, and her visitors are to be limited to you, and Faith—for a minute or two—when Mary asks for her.

"Dr. Twitchell has consented to her studying her lines at short intervals during the day, the time limits to be set by Aunt Katharine. He is indulging her in that as he will in anything else he possibly can.

"He laid especial stress upon the fact that we must not thwart her in anything if we possibly could help it. Now'—I broke off, and interpolated a warning note—'I do not wish you to betray for an instant that I have told you this last thing, I am telling you only because I am sure Mary has some request to make of you.

'She has not told me what it is," I lied valiantly, "but she is terribly worried about you."

"Why?" he asked quickly.

Must Brace Himself

'Because she saw last night how upset you were,' I told him. 'That's why I want you to brace yourself for this interview. You'll find her apparently in much better spirits than she was last night, but I must warn you that she is jittery inside. Therefore, no matter how preposterous the request she makes of you, grant it if it be possible."

No matter what it is, I'll say yes,' Noel declared recklessly. "But, Oh, Aunt Madge, isn't there something I can do for her? Help take care of her, I mean?"

"Yes, there is," I told him quickly. "Something very important. But I can't tell you about it now for it is something Mary must not know until we see how she's coming along. And it will depend upon your own condition. It will be no job for anybody who has nerves running away in all directions."

'I'll harness them all today, and keep a tight rein over them.' Noel said, with the ghost of a smile in my direction.

"If you can promise that," I said. "I'll tell you all about it when we come back here after your visit with Mary."
